- In addition to domain knowledge, students should be instilled with professional ethics and integrity to ensure holistic development.
- Students should be encouraged to dream big and aim for global success while maintaining a strong connection to Indian values and culture.
- The approach should foster a balance between "Indian-ness" and a global outlook in all aspects of education.

4. Discussion Points

- Discussion on credits
  - The Board discussed and approved the credits, as well as the unit/module-wise allocation of lectures for the course.
  - The Board appreciated the SSC (School Specific Course) model chosen for the programmes and felt that the credit allocation was well-justified providing good scope for the course content.
- Discussion on unit/module-wise number of lectures allocated to the course
  - The current structure allocates 45 lectures for 3-credit courses and 30 lectures for 2-credit courses, with three modules of 15 lectures each for 3-credit courses and two modules of 15 lectures each for 2-credit courses.
  - The proposed structure maintains the same total number of lectures—45 for 3-credit courses and 30 for 2-credit courses—but changes the module distribution to five modules of 9 lectures each for 3-credit courses and five modules of 6 lectures each for 2-credit courses. The proposed structure was reviewed and approved by the Board.
- Review the syllabi of various programme
  - The courses for all programmes were reviewed in detail. During the discussion, the following suggestions were made for inclusion to enhance the curriculum - Enterprise Architecture (System Design), Jetpack Compose Library (Android Studio), Design Patterns, Design Thinking, KNIME for Visualization with Power BI, and Fiddler for Process Monitoring in the Cloud.
  - The members acknowledged the importance of these additions and recommended a feasibility review before incorporation into the respective syllabi.
  - The syllabus of all the programmes (MSc. Information Technology, MSc. Data Science, BSc. Information Technology, BSc. Computer Science, BSc. Data Science, BSc. Computer Applications) was approved by the board.
